HUNGARY MAY SECEDE.

London, July 3.—The correspondent of the "Daily Mail" at Vienna asserts that Archduke Francis Ferdinand has initiated military preparations with a view to the eventualities of Hungary attempting to secede from the dual monarchy.

First it was Hampton to the bad with a strained shoulder. Then Evers took the captain's place in the box. It looks as if Evers might be out of the game tomorrow. After pitching against the Kams last Saturday he was not content with his laurels but broke into a corner-lot game next day against the Chinese team. As usual, he hurt his arm, and the injury may be serious enough to keep him out for a week. In that case Hampton will probably go back in the box, though his arm is not yet in good shape.

Luckily for Manager Richardson's pennant aspirations, the Elks, will face the Males. If the latter can get to hitting they may run up a good-sized score, though it is hard to see how they can pull down the game. Ringland, the soldier, will be in left field for the Elks again, and Boyle, another military importation, may be tried out at short.

HITS, STEALS, ERRORS

NOW'S THE TIME TO DOWN THE LEADER.

ELKS WEAKENED—EVERS NOT IN SHAPE—PUNS AND H. A. C.'S PASSING OF PITCHER DOWLING.

If anybody expects to head the Elks off before they get that pennant now is the time to get busy. The Elks are rather badly patched up now.

First it was Hampton to the bad with a strained shoulder. Then Evers took the captain's place in the box. It looks as if Evers might be out of the game tomorrow. After pitching against the Kams last Saturday he was not content with his laurels but broke into a corner-lot game next day against the Chinese team. As usual, he hurt his arm, and the injury may be serious enough to keep him out for a week. In that case Hampton will probably go back in the box, though his arm is not yet in good shape.

Luckily for Manager Richardson's pennant aspirations, the Elks, will face the Males. If the latter can get to hitting they may run up a good-sized score, though it is hard to see how they can pull down the game. Ringland, the soldier, will be in left field for the Elks again, and Boyle, another military importation, may be tried out at short.

The race for the pennant promises to be good. The Puns have a strong following for the second series. With the whole team steeled and strengthened, and with a few men batting well the Puns are dangerous. They meet the H. A. C.'s tomorrow, and it will be a pretty fight. Castle or Desha will pitch for the Puns, and Joy for the H. A. C.'s. Castle's second appearance this season will be watched with even more interest than the first. He has obviously learned some handy tricks in his college coaching, and it remains to be seen whether or not the opposing batters will begin to land on him when his delivery is solved.

And so poor old Pete Dowling is dead! As told in the Bulletin yesterday Dowling was killed in Oregon by being struck by a train. Dowling was naturally one of the greatest pitchers that ever broke into the game, but he had one fatal fault to baseball men—drink. It ruined his nerves and his naturally fine physique and in the end mastered the man. Dowling was well known to all followers of the game, five or six years ago. When Milwaukee was in the American League in 1901 Dowling was in his prime. He pitched some wonderful games, for the Brew-er's town, but before the season ended he broke down under the influence of liquor. Then he was picked from the slums by "Honest John" McCloskey, and that great judge of player took him west. In 1902 the big southpaw almost unaided pitched McCloskey's Butte team to the championship in the Pacific Northwest League. Then he again fell a victim to drink, and has been going lower and lower ever since. He was probably intoxicated when killed by the train.

His death in such circumstances reminds one of the passing of Amos Rusie, the greatest pitcher, according to many, the game has ever seen. Like Pete Dowling, Rusie's one enemy was drink. It drove him from the premier position in the National League to the lowest of manual labor. Rusie is now digging ditches in the country around Munice, Ind.

The Midwinter League has already given evidence of activity by getting up a rumor that the Makiki-Stars game last Sunday, won by the Stars, would be protested by the Makikis on the ground that Dixon, second baseman for the Stars, played with the big league last year. As a matter of record, Dixon did not play in any big league game last year.

The Elks got themselves neatly out of a tight house in the Elk-Kam game last Saturday. It was in the seventh inning. Koki had forced Plunkett at second. Reuter swung onto the ball for two bases to deep center. Koki went around the bases fast, but Kila fielded the ball to Evers, Evers relayed it to White, who nailed Koki at the plate and then whipped the ball to third catching Reuter as he slid under Al Moore.

Amoy robbed "the Major" of a hit in the seventh inning. It was a fast grounder between third and short. Amoy took it on the run and continued to third putting out E. Desha.

Meyers made a beautiful stop and throw of Brun's fast one over third base in the eighth inning of the second game.

Mr. Good—Well, Bobby, how was school today? Did anything make an impression on you?

Bobby—Well, I should say so. The teacher caught me throwing paper wads, and she took a whip and made about a dozen impressions, I guess.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

TROOPS FOR HAWAII

Washington, July 1.—The labor situation in the Hawaiian Islands, where several thousand Japanese laborers on sugar plantations are on strike, has led to representation to the War Department that a call for the use of United States troops might be expected at any time, as the Japanese have shown an entire disregard of the police.

The Governor had taken the matter up to ascertain exactly his authority in calling upon the Federal troops, and had been informed that under the laws such call would be responded to.

OUR ATHLETES WEAK.

London, July 1.—The American athletes contesting for the amateur Athletic Association championships at Stamford Bridge today took but one event, the 220-yard dash. This was won by H. A. Hyman by three yards from Judd, the holder of the championship. Hyman's time being 22-5 seconds. The usual form of the Americans was conceded to equal that of any of the competitors, but hard luck appeared to be their lot.

Amster, who easily won his heat in the hurdles, met the English champion, R. S. Stronach, in the final, and at the third hurdle had the race well in hand. He was leading at the eighth hurdle, but in taking the jump caught his left foot, and he recovered too late to save the race.

Taylor came into the straight in the 440-yard run at even terms with J. P. George. Taylor appeared to have the race at his mercy, but he tripped near home and lost a couple of strides and the race.

Joe Cohen has gone to San Francisco. It is rumored that he will try to secure games for the Males with the Coast, American and National League champions.

McCorriston's work behind the bat was good considering his lack of practice. He also got a good hit.

The Puns and H. A. C.'s play the first game tomorrow, the Elks and Males the second. The band, of course.

There have been many extra inning games but the one recorded below breaks the record. The old record was 22 innings, made by Seattle and Tacoma in the early nineties, and finally won by Seattle, 3 to 2. This game, however, is remarkable for the scarcity of errors as well as of runs.

One of the longest recorded games of baseball without a run being made was played late afternoon by the Stockton and Lodi teams. Twenty-three innings were contested before the home club made the circuit. It was the most exciting contest ever witnessed by local fans, as the playing was very fast during the three hours and twenty-six minutes the nines were on the diamond. Twice before teams have played twenty-one innings without scoring, but two of them completed the contests in the twenty-second inning, but the two California State League nines had to play until the twenty-third inning to finish. The two teams were well matched and up to the twelfth inning the hitting was light and only one man reached third.

In the seventeenth trial Stockton had a good chance to win, but a mistake in judgment tossed it off. After that there was nothing doing, and it looked as if the game would be a draw, so cleverly the fielders handled the ball. Captain Campbell of the locals handled twenty-one chances at short without an error.

The finish was exciting. Ferguson hit safely and McMurray went out on a pop foul. Campbell singled, like Hamilton drove out a double and Will Moreing, who was running for Ferguson, crossed the plate with the only run of the game. The score:
